DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is in response to amendment filed 3/23/06.

Response to Amendment

2. Claims 1, 11 and 15 have been amended. Claims 1-5, 11-12 and 15 are under examination.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 11 and 15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejections.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 2, 11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Friedland et al. (US Pat. 6,449,601) (hereafter referred to as Friedland).

Art Unit: 3624

Per claim 1, Friedland teaches a method of configuring a bid adjustment mechanism in an online auction, (bidder and auctioneer interfaces, p.12) comprising the steps of:

(a) displaying a bid adjustment mechanism configuration interface that allows a bidder to specify an adjustment for a bid without entering an amount of the bid (refer to col. 13 L 63- col. 14 L 43, “user interface shown in Fig. 9” “array of buttons used to establish a current bid, a bid increment and an asking bid” note that each parameter is established independent of each other, therefore, a bidder may specify an adjustment for a bid (i.e. bid increment) without entering an amount of the bid) and

(b) setting a bid adjustment value for the bid adjustment mechanism using the configuration interface such that when the bid adjustment mechanism is actuated, a bid is adjusted by the bid adjustment value set in the configuration interface.

(refer to col. 13 L 63- col. 14 L 43, this step is a result of step (a) and therefore inherent because the human proxy operating the DLA auction console updates status information about the auction as the auction proceeds).

Claim 2: wherein the bid adjustment mechanism is a button on a graphical user interface displayed to the bidder.

(“the user interface is an array of buttons used to ..establish a bid increment” refer to the above citation).

Note that claims 11 and 15 are apparatus claims that correspond to method claim 1 and accordingly analyzed in the foregoing analysis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 3-5 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Friedland as analyzed in claims 1 and 2 and further in view of Fisher.

Friedland fails to teach that the bid adjustment value comprises selecting a bid adjustment type associated with the bid adjustment value as recited in claims 3-5 and 12.

Fisher, in the same field of endeavor, however, teaches a bid adjustment type associated with the bid adjustment value which corresponds to an absolute value or a percentage of a previous bid (see col. 12 L 33+, bidding increment amount and percentage, noting that the increment amount is in Dollar amount).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Friedland in view of Fisher wherein a feature of bid adjustment type associated with the bid adjustment value is provided which corresponds to an absolute value or a percentage of a previous bidder because such an improvement would provide greater flexibility and convenience to the proxy bidder in adjusting bid for a wide range of bid values.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 3624

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
